Redistricting legislation struck a mag in the general assembly Friday when it became known that the joint subcommittee, in an effort to draw map and write a bill which would be accepted by the house and senate committees on reapportionment, split wide open just before it was slated to bring out a unanimous report.

Adjournment over the week-end. with its next session carded for Monday night, was expected to heal some of the eleventh-hour bitterness that broke out Thursday night in a downtown hotel. While the committee, according to reports, remained sharply divided over the boundaries of several districts, the principal fight centered around the transfer of Clarke county, home of Representative Brand, to the tenth district. Such a change would force a contest between Brand and Representative Carl Vinson.

The challenge from Senator Watson issued from Washington last night followed a previous statement by Senator Robinson criticizing the Smoot-Hawley tariff. In this Senator Robinson said: "An announcement from the president that the worst exactions of the Grundy tariff would be corrected with his aid and countenance, would give the same comfort to his own countrymen that his reparations moratorium was expected to give to the staggering nations of Europe."

Senator Robinson's statement today inquired if the Indiana senator had "forgotten the resentment which the Smoot-Hawley tariff act of 1930 aroused in certain countries numbered among the principal customers for American-made goods."

One Dead, Score Injured in Flare-Up of Birmingham Milk Price War.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. July 10.—

(P)—One person was killed and a score injured tonight when a bomb was tossed into the plant of the Purch Milk Company in a flare-up of a "price war" among distributors here. Richard Richardson. 11-year-old negro, was killed and seven of those injured were carried to hospitals where they were said to be suffering with multiple cuts and lacerations. The force of the explosion wrecked the plant and shattered plate glass windows the entire length of the block, covering the streets with particles of glass.

The plant's refrigeration system was wrecked, unloosing ammonia tumes which drove spectators away and forced firemen and policemen to don gas masks in clearing a traffic jam and searching the wreckage for possible victims.

The case opened before Judge John D. Humphries Thyrsday and reached the jury at about noon Friday, after the attorneys for the defense had attacked the testimony offered by the ten state's witnesses.

In presenting the final argument to the jury, James Davis, defense counsel, assailed the testimony offered by Georgia Phillips, the state's principal witness, who was with the slain man at the time he was shot down near Fort McPherson. The woman stated that she had seen Staton clearly enough by moonlight to be able to identify him. Davis produced a sensation in court when he pulled a calendar and an almanac from his brief case and showed that the new moon on May 20 did not shed sufficient light for her to see the killer. GRAFT WITNESS DIES UNDER TRAIN

"Star" of Seabury Probe Believed To Have Ended Own Life.

NEW YORK, July 10.—(P)—A hint of murder crept into the police investigation tonight of circumstances under which Traugott F. Keller, chief engineer of the dock department, died under a subway train a few minutes before he was to have appeared before the state's committee investigating city affairs.

Beside an entry of suicide in the medical examiner's records a large interrogation point stood opposite Keller's name.

Keller had promised that today, among other things, he would reveal the identity of the Frank Baxter who igured in the pier lease investigation figured in the pier lease investigation a year ago. Baxter was supposed to have received the $250,000 the United American Line paid former Kings County Judge Bernard W. Vause, but Baxter never could be found.

Members of the present investigation committee had strongly suspected Keller might be Baxter, and it was intended to force a showdown on this point today.

After Keller's suicide became known his subordinates were ordered to bring records from his office to the investi-gation rooms. These were expected to reveal a large part of the secret deal-ings the engineer is alleged to have engaged in.
Although Keller's salary was but $10,000, accountants checking over his bank accounts have unearthed depos-its of $100,000. As chief engineer he had almost unlimited power over pier leases, rentals and construction work. He was in a key position to know what was going on in the dock department and as such was considered an invaluable witness to the investigation.

CONSTIPATION BRINGS MANY ILLS

DID you know that constipation often brings despondency? Poisons spread through the system. You lack pep. Headaches become frequent. No wonder you have the "blues."

Yet constipation can be over-come by having sufficient rough-age in your diet. A pleasant way to obtain this roughage is through eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

You will enjoy this delicious cereal. And how much better you than taking habit-forming laxatives. Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-

BRAN, eaten daily, will relieve and prevent both temporary and recurring constipation. ALL-BRAN also contains needed iron to build up the blood. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Group Will Convene in Washington Monday With Secretary Doak.

WASHINGTON, July 10 .- (49)-Labor leaders of the bituminous coal industry were summoned today to a conference here to supplement yesterday's meeting of mine operators.

The gathering will take place next Monday. It is intended as a further effort to find a common ground on which all interested elements of the industry may be called together for a discussion of its ills.

The operators yesterday said they could see little prospect of beneficial accomplishments at a general meet-

Letters From a Bald-Headed Dad to a Flapper Daughter

BY ROBERT QUILLEN

My Dear Louise:

I am writing this in hope of undoing the harm I did when you were in the third grade. You weren't doing well in mathematics and I tried to lessen your anxiety and hoodwink my parental pride by ing you an alibi. "Don't worry," I said. "There are just two kinds of minds-mathematical and poetic-and nobody can change his natural equipment. You haven't a mathematical mind, so you'll always have trouble with arithmetic and there's nothing you can do about it." That was bosh, but neither of us knew it. You accepted the alibi with resignation and rejoicing, and thereafter approached all mathe-matical problems with the firm intention of getting licked.

ROBERT QUILLEN Your mind simply went blank at sight of figures because your sub-conscious mind was trained to say: "No use, young lady; you simply can't make the grade."

College algebra almost floored you, and "trig." baffles you still—an.

Mathematics is simply applied logic, and you should understand it as easily as you understand biology. I suppose biology would baffle you, too, if I had trained you to think you didn't have a biological mind.

Well, I can't undo the harm, but I can set you right for the future. The greatest of teachers said: "As a man thinketh in his heart, so it And psychologists are discovering in that truth almost unlimited possibilities.

You thought you couldn't understand mathematics, and thus you were obbed of understanding.

Your mind controls you as the steering wheel controls a car.

You hear someone describe the experience of biting a cockroach in his salad and you turn sick. You are too tired at night to sit up and read, yet when youngsters appear with plans for a dance, your pulse quickens with a joyous vitality at will last until midnight.

Why is it? Because your mind has full control of you

Whatever you believe you can do, that you can do. The world stands still in the face of something that can't be done, and then along comes a fellow who doesn't know it can't be done and he does it. That is the explanation of all progress. The whole trick consists in believing

No man removes mountains by faith because no man has yet believed could do it. Wishes get you nowhere. Pretending to believe is useless. But deep, abiding, dead-sure convictions enable you to do anything within your powers of conception. You believe you can swim a certain distance, and therefore do it easily. If you lost faith at 25 yards, fear and frenzy would sink you. Belief is fuel, my dear. You provide the belief and the belief will provide the power. Love, (Copyright, 1931, for The Constitution.)

Formal Protest Sent I. C. C. Against Proposed 15 Per Cent Increase.

The Georgia Manufacturers' Association announced Friday that a formal protest against the proposed 15 per cent increase in general freight rates has been filed with the interstate commerce commission.

The petition declares that, "When The petition declares that, "When industry is doing everything possible to recover from the stagnation of the past 18 months, this additional burden, if approved by your honorable commission, will prove only an additional burden to our overhead. We sincerely trust that the interstate commerce commission will not grant this increase, but that you will require the railroads to economize in every direction, as your petitioners have increase, but that you will require the railroads to economize in every direction, as your petitioners have been forced to do to maintain their own organizations.

"In making the above plea, we are doing so in all friendliness to the railroads of the country. This association realizes that we must have rail transportation, but we also realize that the transportation companies are no different from any other agency, and should maintain their organization in accordance with economics, as every other industry has and does. We believe that the emergency requiring the railroads to ask for a freight increase of 15 per cent is no different and no more alarming than the period immediately succeeding the war, when our manufacturers were forced to retrench and charge off immense stock produced in line with the preparedness program. Our industrialists freely accepted the advice of the government and cut to the bone. It is up to the railroads to do the same thing, starting with the top and proceeding all along he lines. Until they do this, it is unthinkable that they should ask for an increase in operating revenues at the expense of industries which are already sorely stricken in their effort to keep going."

Mack notified Constable Jay Swinehart that $3,000 worth of jewelry and $80 in cash his wife had with her when she disappeared, was gone.

The Mexican girl said she found the woman wandering in hills 12 miles from Tia Juana, and that Mrs. Mack could not remember her name, but said she lived near "some little green houses." The girl said the only green houses she had ever seen were in San Ysidro, so she brought the woman here.

Manley, Ex-Banker, Is Sued for $26,000

W. D. Manley, former banker was named Friday in a complaint

W. D. Manley, former banker, was named Friday in a complaint filed in Fulton superior court by J. P. Cochrane as liquidator of the Commercial Bank and Trust Company of West Palm Beach, Fla., which seeks to force him as a stockholder in the defunct bank to pay $28,000. Manley is serving a sentence in the Atlanta penitentiary in connection with the failure of the Manley chain of banks.

The case is answerable to the next term of court.

In the complaint Cochrane alleges that on June 26, 1926, the bank in question was closed and that the state of Florida appointed him to liquidate it. At that time, he alleges, Manley was the possessor of 2500 shares of stock valued at $100 a share. On April 16, 1929, he alleges, he found it necessary to assess all stockholders 100 per cent of the value of their stock and that on May 22, 1929, he notified Manley and asked for $26,000.

Battle of Wildcat Vs. Hound Dog Stirs Resentment in Tallapoosa

TALLAPOOSA, Ga., July 10.—
Much discussion has been aroused here following a fight between a wild cat and a dog, staged as a spectacle on July 4. While no official action has yet been taken, many prominent citizens are indignant that such a fight could be held in this day and time in a Georgia town. Women leaders of the community in particular are aroused, and several rumors of appeals to state authorities to prevent any repetition of the affair have been circulated.

"The W. C. T. U. members here in Tallapoosa are very much wrought up over a new thing that has arisen here and we do not exactly know how to control it.

Fears of White House Censorship Relieved at Conference for Press dissemination of news stories about his private life.

For a time the president's move For a time the president's move seemed destined to lead to a vigorous defense of freedom of the press by the correspondents assigned to the White House. Tonight, however, the corre-spondents were more inclined to as-cribe the policy to nerves frayed from the strain of recent reparations activ-ities.

the strain of recent reparations activities.

Theodore Joslin, one of the president's secretaries and a former newspaperman, told correspondents that the White House felt news of the president's private life should come through authorized sources only, specifically himself or the president.

Newspapermen sensed the creeping hand of censorship, fearing that any suppression of news at the White House might spread to some of the departments where occasionally some official feels the public should know only what is handed out on an official platter, with official dressing.

There was noticeable tension this morning, when Joslin had his usual conference with newspapermen. There was a semi-weekly conference with the president on schedule for this afternoon and the correspondents, ready

CRACKERS EVEN AS MESSENGER TAKES 9-3 GAME

Andy Flags Lookouts Down as Mates Gather

By Ralph McGill.

When the tall, gaunt form of Andrew Messenger appeared on the hill-top Friday night at Spiller field, the Chattaneoga Lookeuts gave up. They struggled but feebly, going down be-fore the Cracker bats by a 9-to-3

The Crackers attacked the league's leading rookie pitcher. Frankie Ragland, in the first inning for four runs and added two more in the second. With that lead Andy Messenger put his feet up on the handle bars and consted, allowing seven hits across the nine innings he worked. Not once was he in danger.

JUST A BREEZE. Andrew Messenger has some tough afternoons and evenings with other clubs but the Lockouts always roll over and play dead for him. He can pitch them silly any day of the night. Like as not he would be just as effective at midnight.

The evening's entertainment was enlivened in the sixth when Harley Boss was ejected from the game for making unkind and uncouth remarks to Umpire Steamhoat Johnson, It all came about because Red Barnes stole second. Boss, being over at first where he couldn't see, objected very strenuously indeed as players far away from such scenes do.

It was really a very dull exemine

It was really a very dull evening for about 250 Chattaneoga fans who came over with horns and the like. One doesn't toot a horn at one's own funeral.

WHY JOE. DEAR!

Joe Engel smashed two cigars, kicked the front out of the press box and otherwise made himself quite a handicap to the working press. He sat in the box where his words float up and can't be heard below. Which was quite a pity. Joe used some words that the ladies hadn't heard and I don't care if some of them married sailors.

Frankie Ragland got quite a cheer from the Chattanooga contingent when he walked out to pitch.

"There," said Joe Engel, "is my $10,000,000 beauty."

A little while later he retired from the field of honor. The Crackers had made six runs and six hits in one and a third innings.

"There," said Joe Engel, "is my $10,000,000 beauty."

The sentences were the same. But

#There." said Joe Engel, "is my $10,000,000 beauty." the pennant. They are pretty sure to stumble. Any one of three clubs to stumble to stumble to stumble to stumble to stumble to stumble that race down New York Processing that the back stretch that really tests a club.

GREAT START.

Roy Carlyle had a first inning that was a first inning. He made a running catch off Wesley Kingdon's bat in the first half of the first that vas a world's championship catch. Or robbery, if you happened to be from the Dynamo City.

And in the offensive half he tripled with the bases full to put the Crackers out in front with a real lead. Chapman doubled to score Carlyle with the fourth run. The Crackers knocked Ragland out in the second, Poco Taitt supplying the motive force with a double.

O'Connell doubled in the third, was sacrificed and scored on one of Wally Dashiell's two errors.

Three singles, a stolen base and an infield out put over two Cracker tallies in the sixth.

HARLEY HOMERS.

One of Chattanooga's runs was a home run by Harley Boss over the new right field fence. It was the seleventh of the season over that same

The Lookouts tried for a rally in the ninth, but Andrew Messenger waved them back. They always obey Andy.

Crackers Plan To Cut Number of Night Tilts

The Atlanta ball club is planning to reduce the number of night games to two per week and both of them will be on ladies' nights. Each Tuesday and Friday will find the Crackers playing at night, provided, of course, the schedule brings them here. A definite atement is expected next week.

This means that husbands cannot use the night ball game as an alibi to get out. The sports department has given at least 200 husbands late information on the ball game to be used for a home

It was reported Friday that a petition was being signed by residents near the ball park protesting night games, but Cracker officials said they had heard nothing of it. They also said they were within their rights playing at night.

Crashing News Columns Easy for Cousin Joe; Now It's Circus Spangles

By Ralph McGill.

COUSIN JOE ENGEL, the Chattanooga baseball owner, crashes the Johnny Farrell Second sporting pages with more ease than One-Eye Connelly ever crashed in Canadian Open With a gate.

The dapper fashion plate, who has softened up all the good-time boys about the league, has more of those things called ideas than you or you or you can shake a stick at.

Next Monday is "attendance cup day" at Chattanooga. Joe Engel is going to have his ground keepers, colored folks all, clad in snow-white bathing suits and red circus spangles. And he had the devil's own time digging up circus spangles in Chattanooga. But he

The boys will rush out in those bathing suits and spangles and smooth the grounds for the game.

The spangles will waggle like a Scot's kilt while the plate is being dusted off. Anything for a laugh, a gag; anything to get the people enjoying themselves. That's the Engel motto.

Big Four Teams Play Long Game

THOMASVILLE. Ga., July 10.— Thomasville and Albany, in the Big Four league, hung up a 1931 league record for extra innings here Thursday afternoon.

The two outfits battled on the Albany diamond to an 8-8 tie, the game running 13 innings and finally having to be called on account of dark-Western league umpire and the releasing of another. Jack Taylor, of Tennessee, was announced today. Holmes formerly was a member of the American league staff of umpires.

WRIGHT, CRAM WILL CONTEST TENNIS CROWN

Tarpley, Hines Bow in Semi-Finals of Dixie Meet.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 10.—
(P)—Lenoir Wright, of Charlotte, N. C., today cut short the spectacular advance of Melvin Tarpley, of Tampa, Fla., in the semi-finals of the men's singles in the Southern Lawn Tennis tournament, and went into the finals with Donald Cram, of Nashville, who won from Wilmer Hines, Columlia, South Carolina.

Wright beat Tarpley, 6-4, 6-4, 6-3, and Cram, top seeded player following withdrawal of Bryan Grant, of Atlanta, eliminated Hines, 5-7, 613, 6-4, 6-2. Hines, cotton states titleholder, was seeded No. 4. Cram and Wright meet at 3 o'clock tomorrow for the championship.

EXPERIENCE HELPS.

Cram, a seasoned veteran, took advantage of his tournament experience to win decisively from Hines after the Columbia youth swept him off his feet in the first set. In this set Cram dropped two services and broke through Hines only once. Cram dropped two games to Hines to start the second set and then swept the next five. Hines failed to win on Cram's service in the third set and broke through but once in the fourth.

Wright's defeat of Tarpley was as surprising and convincing as the Florida youth's victories in reaching the semi-finals. Tarpley ran three games, lost his service in the fourth, but took the fifth. He failed to register again as the Tarheel star played conservatively, lofting his shots and pulling Tarpley into the net, only to send the ball sizzling past him.

Tarpley had trouble with his racquet in the second set, repeatedly sending balls into the net on apparently easy shots. He broke through Wright's service once and in the third round won his three games on his own service.

Donald Cram figured in another semi-finals victory when he teamed with his younger brother, Kendall, to defeat Billy Reese, Atlanta, and Robert Stewart, Pensacola, 6-2, 6-4, 2-6, 6-4. Gene Tunney's Snub of Chicago Simply Mistake

CHICAGO, July 10.—(P)—The other day the word went out that Gene Tunney and Chicago, where he made nearly $1,000,000, were not on speaking terms.

But it was learned today that this was a mistake, that in fact the retired heavyweight champion puglist had done some talking to Chicago recently and that as a result Robert Maynard Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, had plenty of information about Gene's honeymoon island of Brionin the Adriatic when he and Mrs. in the Adriatic when he and Mrs. Hutchins sailed for that place yes-terday for a summer vacation.

President Hutchins called on long distance some time ago to New York seeking to talk with Tunney about what sort of a place the island was for a vacation, but the operator re-ported back:

"We are sorry, but Mr. Tun-ney's secretary reports that Mr. Tunney does not speak to Chicago." A few days later, however, Presi-dent Hutchins' telephone rang and the voice, as related by the Chicago Herald and Examiner, said some-thing like this:

"This is Gene Tunney. I have just learned you telephoned me a few days ago to inquire about Brioni Island. Well, Mr. Hutchins, I simply can't tell you how sorry I am and..." Whereupon followed 10 minutes of apology and 20 minutes of remarks on the merits of the island where Tunney and the former Polly Lauder spent their honeymoon.

DEATH ON BLACKS.

Yates, after eliminating Dave Black, last year's champion, in the quarter-finals this morning, defeated Charlie, Dave's elder brother and holder of Atlanta's amateur title, in the after-noon round. Dean Smith beat Donald Strachan, a fellow Savannah player.

Never in the 14 years of state competition has the semi-finals seen such a climax. Both matches were square at the turn and in neither match was the advantage more than one hole. the advantage more than one hole.

Although the Yates-Black match drew an unusually large gallery, the Savannah pair probably played the better golf. Both Savannahns putted numerous times for hirding.

RECOVERIES GOOD. Yates and Black were continually in trouble, but good recovery shots gave the spectators all that was coming to them. Both players carded 84s for the 18 holes. Yates carded a par four to win on the 19th while Black was in the sand trap with his second and required a five. Both Yates and Black had unusually good rounds during the quarter-final play in the morning.

United States national open with two putts to keep him in the running.

Von Elm's two putts to tie were as important as the two he missed, back early in the running, for wins.

Great putters and the ability to recover from the deep rough or traps are champion golfers.

Bobby Jones, the greatest of putters, is in turn the greatest of putters, is in turn the greatest of rolfers. When they are dropping he is scoring.

In the national open at Columbia Country Club, back in 1921, Bobby Jones took a 77 for one round. In that round he had eight three-putt greens.

With only two putts to a green he could have had an easy 69 that early in such an event as a national open. It was after this round that Jones began to realize the importance of the putt to winning national and international titles.

His form today is a result of that long and hard study to beat his opponent and score on the greens.

Two Others Wounded as Trio Attempt Raid on Bank.

Earl Derr Biggers' thrilling detective story, "The Black Camel," is just as thrilling as it was in book form in its screen version, which opens a week's run at the Fox theater this morning.

With Warner Oland playing the part of the Chinese detective, Charlie Chan, and with Dorothy Revier, Sally Ellers, Bela Lugosi and other well known players in the cast, the picture is one of the most realistic productions of recent months. Scenes are laid in Hawaii and the beauty of Honolulu, with its beaches and glorious hotels, is vividly portrayed in the picture.

planned holdup, had turned into a death trap.

The more carefully executed trap was designed at Memphis by Will T. Griffin, inspector of police detectives, and Toll E. Fowler, assistant chief of the Tennessee highway patrol, who obtained the first tip on the contemplated robbery.

Fowler, whose present official business is foiling plans of motorists to violate traffic regulations, was, by his own insistence, among the five waiting officers at the bank.

"McCleish walked over to Willard York, the eashier, and told him to 'stick 'em up,'" Fowler briefly described the events to newspapermen.

"York started to raise his hands, then dropped behind the counter, and we started shooting. McCleish turned around and shot back at us, until hedropped with several bullets in his body."

E'owler said Butler was captured in the care of the conjoined twin girls separated by a surgical operation, shortly after their birth here three days ago.

The big brick pillared wrought iron gates opened directly upon what had been the king's highway, whereon motors whized, booted, honked and screeched all day and most of the night, thus giving the Rutherfords cause to rejoice that their old house was shut away by a full mile of trees from sight and sound of intrusive tourists. They rejoiced to be on the right end of that great green tunnel.

The colonel's daughter, Kate, a childness and deserted wife, and mortally wounded by the fact, had resumed her maiden name when she returned to Oakleigh to live some embittered years and die under the home roof. Then the only Rutherford son and his young wife were killed together in an automobile wreck, leaving small Sally, a baby of two, to his parents. Too young to realize her parents' loss—for what does a baby's spirit know of death—the little girl grew up at Oakleigh so happily that shedid not understand the meaning of the words trouble or sorrow.

The household management lay in the frail but competent hadds of grandmamma. There were many colored servants to meet and obey one's Bethlehem Steel, whose dividend is regarded as somewhat uncertain, was easy and both American Can and National Biscuit closed with small losses. Chemicals again developed strength, led by Columbian Carbon, which held most of a 6-point rise. Rails were quiet but higher. Safeway Stores was strong on news of the Mac Marr absorption.

The weekly indices of commodity prices disclosed that advances had been fewer than in the previous week; nevertheless, they still exceeded decilies.

Increased movement of the southwestern wheat crop brought fractional net losses in that grain. July corn advanced on short covering, but other months sagged. Cotton steadied, up 2 to 8 points. Bethlehem Steel, whose dividend is

NEW YORK COTTON RANGE. July 9.08 Oct. ... 9.40 Dec. ... 9.62

NEW YORK, July 10.—(P)—An opening decline in cotton was followed by advances on trade buying and covering today. October contracts, after selling off to 9.31 or 17 points net lower, advanced to 9.64, or 16 points net higher, and closed at 9.53. The general market closed steady at net advances of 2 to 8 points.

The opening was steady 7 to 10 points lower under a renewal of liquidation, Liverpool and local selling. Reports of showers in the eastern belt were considered favorable and buyers evidently found little encouragement in the early action of the stock market. There was considerable trade ket. There was considerable trade buying and covering at the initial prices, but it was quite readily sup-plied. The market worked off to 8.93 for July and 9.52 for December later in the morning, or about 16 to 19 points are lower.

points net lower.

A better demand was encountered at these figures, however, while contracts became comparatively scarce after the early offerings had been absorbed. Prices rallied sharply during points net lower. sorbed. Prices rallied sharply during the afternoon on covering or rebuying by some of the early sellers, and rather an active demand for early new crop positions from commission house interests. July was relatively quiet and followed the advance slowly but sold up to 9.26, or 9 points net higher. December advanced to 9.87, or 35 points above the low level of the morning and 16 points above yesterday's closing quotations. Last prices were 5 or 10 points off from the best under realizing.

According to the New York Cotton Exchange service, consumptiin of lint cotton in this country for the mouth of June was estimated at 450,000 against 466,000 for May and 405,000 last year. These figures were without

NEW YORK, July 10.—As anticipated, today's market recaptured some additional ground lost on the preceding reaction. Early selling met resistance suggestive of sufficient scale buying to discourage bearish operations, although a slight recession at the close indicated that accumulation is proceeding deliberately.

Beyond improvement in the list's technical position there were no discernible external influences to account for the market's more confident action. Foreign dispatches, however, tended to give a more encouraging slant to the German releabank's negotiations for additional credit to tide it over present crisis.

NEW YORK, July 10.—Unless the German loan negotiations take a definite turn for the worse, we are of the belief that this week's lows for the Dow-Jones Industrial ascrages are not in any immediate danger of being broken through on the down side. We have been an excellent barometer of general market trends. We also note that recent attempts to depress United States Steel common on so-called bad news meet with strong resistance and we understand that Steel is being accumulated by important market interests on the assumption that the regular $5 dividend will be maintained at the directors' meeting scheduled for July 2S.

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN. CHICAGO, July 10 .- (A)-Enormous arrivals of new domestic wheat, with prospects that the harvst movement would continue heavy for several weeks, led today to fresh breaking of low price records. The market fell to the bottom-most level since 1894, outdoing yesterday's tumble to below any drop later than 1896. Today's minimum for July wheat, representing the 1931 crop, was within 2 1-2 cents of the lowest point ever reached by future delivery contracts on the Chicago Board of Trade.

The United States government crop report, issued after business had ended, was a surprise to most traders, the official estimate on winter wheat being materially above expectations whereas spring wheat was smaller.

The official total on all wheat was 12,000,000 bushels less than was looked for

BIG WHEAT AND CORN CROPS ARE INDICATED

WASHINGTON, July 10.—(P)— Bountiful harvests of corn and wheat were forecast today by the agriculture

Corn production, on the basis of July 1 condition, was estimated at 2,967,953,000 bushels as compared with 2,094,000,000 bushels in 1930, when corn was seriously affected by drouth. The five-year average is 2,761,000,000 bushels.

A wheat crop exceeding last year's production was seen in prospect. The department estimated this year's production at 869.013.000 bushels as compared with 863,000.000 a year ago. The five-year average is 822,000,000

NAVAL STORES HEADS

TO DISCUSS TRADING

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 10.—(P)
The Savannah Board of Trade today announced a meeting of the naval stores section has been called for 10 a. m. Monday to discuss the lack of trading which has characterized the local market for the past week. The meeting was suggested by O. T. Mc-Intosh, chairman of the quotations committee.

It was pointed out at a meeting this afternoon of the trade that prices now on the board are split in unusual ways. The price of turpentine ranged from 40 to 59 cents while split prices on the rosin market vary as much as $1.75 on some grades.

The tone of the market, it was said at the meeting, has been "nominal."

with Safeway turned attention to the chain stores. MacMarr, which is traded on this market, gained fractionally. Although it is rumored that Safeway proposes to build up an organization rivaling Great Atlantic and Pacific, the latter stock rallied 71-2 points to 204.

Oils were steady to firm. Sudden activity developed in Plymouth.

In the industrials, Deere, Pan-American Airways and Stutz Motor moved up about 2 points.

Net gains for the day ranged from 1 to 2 points in the most active issues. Improvement in the market did not assume any prominence until the steel tonnage figures were published. Railroad shares continued to show betterment and closed with net gains of 1 to 2 points.

The Street went home cheerful but doubting whether the upward movement would show a "follow through" during tomorrow's short session. Price fluctuations in the standard stocks are characteristic of those which usually occur during a period

Now The Red Flower of Zoram understood. This stranger had no desire to harm her. Quickly she came close to his side. And then Jason and Jana stood as they had when he had lifted her from the ground. His left hand was about her shoulders supporting her in an unconscious gesture of protection, as he turned to face the girl's enemies. These, after their first fright at the sound of the loud noise and the smoke that had burst from the strange stick in the man's hand, seemed on the point of returning to the attack.

Two of the hyaenodons, however, had transferred their attentions to Skruk and his companions. The their attentions to Skruk and his companions. The third was slinking bare fanged toward Jason and Jana. The men of Pheli stood ready to receive the attack of the hyaenodons, facing the beasts and far enough away to permit them to wield their clubs. The beasts charged, and two men hurled their weapons. As one beast went down, Skruk leaped forward and rained heavy blows upon its skull. Then ensued a wild battle—the Phelians dealing death with stone knives and heavy cudgels.

The savage battle between men and beast went unnoticed by Jason. His whole attention was occupied by the fourth wolf dog as it moved forward to attack him and his companion. Jana fully realized that now was the moment to make a break for freedom. She felt the man's protective arm about her. So lightly it rested she could easily have broken away. Yet there was something about that arm that gave her a great sense of safety. Instead of fleeing, The Red Flower of Zoram was content to remain.

And then the fourth hyaenodon charged, growling, to be met by the roaring bark of the Colî. The creature stumbled and went down, stopped by the force of the heavy charge—but only for an instant. Again it was up, maddened by pain, desperate in the face of death. Bloody foam crimsoned its jowls as it leaped for Jason's throat. Again the Colt spoke, and then the man went down beneath the body of the heavy wolf dog. And at the same instant the hairy men of Pheli dispatched the last of the beasts who had attacked them.

After All, This Is the Great Epic Poem of Life, Being Written by Men and Women Whose Lives Do Not Necessarily Incorporate Heroic Deeds.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:
Since I read so many sad stories about unhappy marriages in your column I am writing to tell you about my case, which is a very happy one. I was married when I was 23 to a woman 21. We pledged faith and love and to live economically on a small income and to couple with that systematic saving. The result is that we own our home and have all the necessities of life. We have had to sacrifice many of the things that others count necessities, such as fine cars, expensive clothes and costly amusements. Yet on the eve of our seventh anniversary we are a healthy, happy family of four; the children, ages two and four, seem to keep things playful and lively and my wife and I are agreed that this is a pretty good old world after all.

T. M. S. DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:

ANSWER:

A great psycho-analyst once remarked to a group of friends who questioned the propriety of his presence at a dinner party composed largely of persons who didn't come up to the standards of social and moral requirement that well people didn't need the doctor but the siek ones did. Nothing is more heartening than health, whether it be moral or physical health, and a gentle reminder such as this one that the world is full of happy, healthy homes where husbands and wives love each other, ill of the comfortably and thriftily on their incomes, make provision for an unknown future and make their homes lively and the world a better place by the addition of a healthy little brood, is valuable.

After all, this is the great epic poem of life that is being written by the men and women whose lives do not necessarily incorporate heroic deeds, except in so far as the great soul stirring experiences of love, birth, life and death are heroic experiences. And who is ready to say they are not?

It is so easy to get in over our heads. Mary Roberts Rinehart, in her story of her life, makes frequent reference to that tendency that we all seem to have, the tendency to raise our standard of living faster than we raise our incomes and having once raised the standards, we seem to be perfectly helpless to lower them. False pride keeps us in a false position, and from one end of life to the other we are either struggling to pay for what we have bought or struggling for the where-with-all to buy something that we could live happily without.

A very distinguished woman who writes the story of her abundant life

A very distinguished woman who writes the story of her abundant life which has been packed tight with every sort of experience and adventure writes this paragraph at the end of her book:

"And I still have my husband, humorous, keen and kind. We are like two halves of the same thing, somehow. We have grown together, like two branches of the same tree. We are very gay together. We wrangle and argue and laugh. That is worth building, that sort of a marriage. It was built, of course. It did not happen. I do not believe that real marriage ever happens."

Farmer Brown's Boy was so excited that he was all of a tremble. Yes, sir, this face. The band had drawn near foot gave a warning sport and away enough for him to see little ones, and one of these had run up to the one he had been sure was Fleetfoot and he knew that he had been mistaken.

"It is Mrs. Fleetfoot," he exclaimed a beautiful sight. "It is Mrs. Fleetfoot," he exclaimed under his breath. "I had forgotten that Mrs. Fleetfoot has horns, but smaller that those of Fleetfoot, and looks much like him in every way. All those big ones look alike, so I guess Fleetfoot is not with them."

"Swim" Unintentional WASHINGTON, July 10.—(P)— Mrs. Walter Newton today wanted it understood it was not her fault she went in swimming in a riding habit near President Hoover's Rapidan camp.

She explained today that the horse, one which had been borrowed from the United States marines, fell down in the middle of the Rapidan river, leaving her no choice.

"The river was much deeper there than any one suspected," Mrs. Newton said, "and I got a good wetting. It certainly was not my fault."

test was abandoned.

The contestants were to have been judged 20 per cent on their intelligence, but at the last minute William Gaxton, movie and murical comedy star, who acted as judge, said he would not question the girls on history, the arts, politics, etc. Intelligence, he said, has nothing to do with beauty.

Miss Edwards was all ready to answer the questions. A newspaper reporter, who had received an advance copy of the questions, had taken her into a corner and coached her on the answers. taken her into a corner and coached her on the answers.

He told her, for instance, that when she reached the question, "Name five members of the Hoover cabinet," she should answer: "Thomas Jefferson, Upton Sinclair, William Lyon Phelps, Paolino Uzcudun and Will B. Johnstone."
